“Gesundheit” is a comedic tale of three juvenile art robbers, Michael, Bob, and James, who make a living stealing art using Michael’s teleportation sneezing. Together, they quietly rob and subsequently deface an art museum, having a great deal of fun — until the police bust in.

“Turn Around” is a futuristic tale where three-meter tall robots are the new motorcycles. Sam, a young man leaves home after a fight with his father. After his powered suit breaks down, he encounters Mike, a well-to-do sheriff, who gives him insight on his relationship with his father.

“Flight” is the heart rendering story of a young boy named Bradley bonding with his father until his mother sues his father for divorce and custody, forcing Bradley to say goodbye.
